PREFACE.

THE present volume, which concludes the "Catalogue of the Cuneiform Tablets in the Kouyunjik Collection of the British Museum," contains:—

(1) A short Introduction intended to give the reader a sketch of the contents of the tablets of the Kouyunjik Collection.

(2) A general Index to the whole work. This Index contains all the proper names which occur in the Catalogue, transliterated into Roman characters,* and it has been thought expedient to include abundant references to the five volumes of the "Cuneiform Inscriptions of Western Asia," as that work also deals with the British Museum Collections. Variant readings of names will be found in parentheses. Long vowels have been indicated on the authority of the Assyrian scribes. In this Index will also be found numerous Subject-headings, classifying my descriptions of the contents of the Collection. Sufficient cross-references have also been added. Under these Subject-headings the tablets which belong, or may be reasonably supposed to belong, to Series are first enumerated; these are followed by tablets upon which no indication of belonging to a Series is found. In either category those tablets, the nature of whose contents is more exactly known, are placed before those of a more indefinite character: thus "astrological forecasts" precede simple "forecasts"; "letters to the king concerning building operations" precede general "letters to the king," etc. Omen-tablets, lists, and the like are arranged in alphabetical order of the subjects with which they deal.

(3) Three Appendixes, which contain a List of Assyriological Works and the abbreviations by which they are cited in this Catalogue; an Index to the five volumes of the "Cuneiform Inscriptions of Western Asia," incorporating also references to this Catalogue; an Index to the Registration or Reference Numbers of the various sections (some thirty in number) of the Kouyunjik Collection, with references to the pages of this Catalogue where they are either described or discussed. From this Registration Index the reader will be enabled to discover which tablets are duplicates or contain parallel texts, which tablets are explained by others, which fragments have been joined since the arrival of the Collection in the British Museum, etc. The main references are printed in heavier type.

(4) A series of twelve plates, in which a number of cuneiform tablets and fragments, selected chiefly for their forms and philological importance, have been reproduced by a photographic process.

I take the opportunity of expressing my sincere gratitude for the sympathy and help which I received from the late Sir Henry Creswicke Rawlinson, Bart., G.C.B., one of the Trustees of the British Museum, in the preparation of the early volumes of this Catalogue. My heartiest thanks are also due to Sir Edward Maunde Thompson, K.C.B., Director of the British Museum, for much valuable advice during the execution of the work; and to Dr. E. A. Wallis Budge, Keeper of the Egyptian and Assyrian Antiquities, for his ready help.

INTRODUCTION.

THE Collection of Clay Tablets inscribed in cuneiform, now commonly known as the "Kouyunjik Collection," in the British Museum, represents the greater part of the contents of the Royal Library which was founded and maintained at Nineveh by the kings of the last Assyrian Empire, who reigned from about B.C. 720 to B.C. 620. There is evidence to prove that the library existed in a humble form in the days of Sargon, "the son of no-one," who reigned from B.C. 722 to B.C. 705, and it is certain that his son Sennacherib (B.C. 705–681) and his grandson Esar-haddon (B.C. 681–668) added to its contents. It was, however, reserved for his great-grandson Ashur-bâni-pal (B.C. 668 to about B.C. 625) to enlarge and enrich the collection of tablets which his predecessors had brought together in such a way as to constitute them into a veritable library, by the addition of hundreds, even thousands, of documents inscribed with translations and copies of ancient Babylonian and Akkadian works, and large numbers of syllabaries, lists of words, vocabularies, and classified explanations and commentaries upon texts which dealt with every branch of learning and science known to the wise men of his day. Indeed, almost every tablet of importance in the Kouyunjik Collection bears in its colophon the name of Ashur-bâni-pal, a fact which justifies the boast which this king makes in his Annals (Col. I, ll. 31 ff.), that Nebo, the lord of wisdom, had granted unto him understanding and knowledge, whereby he was able to become the master of the art and mystery of writing, and of each and every science treated of in the learned works which were written upon clay tablets at that period.

The Kouyunjik Collection derives its name from a large mound situated on the east or left bank of the river Tigris, which contains the ruins of two or more palaces of the kings of the last Assyrian empire; on the west of it flows the Tigris, and on the south the river Khosr (خوسر). At one time the mound seems to have been called ʿArmûshîyyeh (عرموشيّة), after the name of a legendary hero called ʿArmûsh, but for many generations past the Arabs of the neighbourhood have called it Ḳuyunjuḳ (قينجق), i.e., "the little lamb," probably with reference to the numerous sheep and lambs which were always to be seen feeding upon its grassy top and sides. The mound Ḳuyunjuḳ, or Kouyunjik, lies nearly opposite the modern town of Môṣul (الموصل).

In the year 1842 M. Botta, the French consul at Môṣul, made certain excavations in the mound of Kouyunjik, but without much success. Two years later Sir Henry Layard took up the work on behalf of the Trustees of the British Museum, and discovered the palace of Sennacherib, king of Assyria. In 1849 and 1850 he discovered the palace of Ashur-bâni-pal, king of Assyria, which yielded a long series of inscribed sculptures, several thousands of inscribed clay tablets and fragments, and a large number of miscellaneous antiquities. Subsequently, excavations were carried on for the Trustees of the British Museum at Kouyunjik by Major-General Sir Henry Rawlinson (1853–1855), H. Rassam (1854 1877–1883), George Smith (1873, 1874, and 1876), and E. A. Wallis Budge (1888, 1889 and 1891).

The credit of the decipherment of the tablets of the Kouyunjik Collection is due in a great measure to the late Sir Henry Rawlinson. Some fifty years ago this great decipherer and translator of the famous Behistun Inscription correctly identified the writing and language of the Assyrian inscriptions with those of the third column of the trilingual inscriptions of Cyrus, Darius, Xerxes, and other Akhaemenian kings, and, with the Rev. Edward Hincks and Prof. Julius Oppert, and Mr. Fox Talbot, who worked independently, succeeded in translating the principal inscriptions found at Kouyunjik. Sir Henry was also the discoverer of the Sumerian and Akkadian languages, which are so extensively used in the Kouyunjik tablets; he first recognized the value of the so-called Assyrian "Eponym Canon," and the nature and character of the legends of the mythical king and hero Gilgamiš; and he edited for the Trustees of the British Museum "The Cuneiform Inscriptions of Western Asia," in five volumes, folio, which contain the most important of the inscriptions.

The greater number of the inscribed tablets and tablet-fragments found at Kouyunjik are preserved in the British Museum, but a few have found their way into other institutions and private collections. Among these may be mentioned:—(1) Nineteen tablets, &c., presented to Pope Gregory XVI by the Jesuit father Maximilian Ryllo in 1838, and now in the Vatican; (2) a number of tablets now in the Louvre; (3) certain syllabaries and texts and a cylinder of Sennacherib now in the Imperial Museum at Constantinople; (4) a fragment of an inscription of Sennacherib in the Imperial Hof-Museum at Vienna; (5) a mythological fragment in Philadelphia, in the United States.

The cuneiform tablets when unbroken vary in size from 15 in. × $8\frac{5}{8}$ in. to 1 in. × $\frac{7}{8}$ in., and the greater number are about an inch thick. They are usually rectangular in shape, and, while the obverse is flat, the reverse is slightly convex. Among tablets of unusual shape may be mentioned:—(1) The so-called case-tablets; (2) clay letter enclosed in an envelope (K. 10904); (3) certain lists of objects (KK. 816, 817); (4) certain contracts (KK. 325, 338, 340, 373), etc. The tablets vary in colour from deep black to a bright red, and the clay of which they are made has all the appearance of having been carefully chosen, thoroughly cleared from sand and grit, and well kneaded. Special care must have been bestowed upon the selection of the material and upon the baking, for in no collection from any other site are the tablets so well shaped and so well baked. In only five instances are tablets known to be crumbling through defective material or baking, see KK. 1261, 1344, 8724, 9852 and 10703.

The number of complete tablets in the collection is relatively small. This is due to the fact that on some occasion, when the city of Nineveh was pillaged by a victorious enemy, the tablets were taken from the Library and were purposely broken into pieces, the fragments being scattered about both inside and outside the Library chamber. A few tablets bear on them the traces of having suffered severely from fire, that is, the clay has in places become fused and has blistered, and the colour has been changed by the action of intense heat into a greenish-grey. In such cases the text has, of course, been destroyed. One of the most important results of the increased study of Assyrian texts during the last twenty years has been the re-joining of fragments throughout the collection; indeed, during the compilation of the present catalogue several hundred "re-joins" have been made.

The tablets of Kouyunjik are usually inscribed in cuneiform character, which was impressed upon the unburnt clay with a stilus of bone or wood having a blunted end and three flat sides. The script employed is, with the exception of certain texts written in archaic, or "archaistic," signs, the simplest known, and the care evinced in the formation of the characters distinguishes it from all other forms of cuneiform writing.

Cuneiform inscriptions are throughout written from left to right, and a line always ends with a complete word. The several sentences of "forecast-texts" rarely exceed a single line; for an exception see K. 1551. The scribe frequently divided his text into columns by lines impressed upon the clay by means of a stretched cord; horizontal lines, serving sometimes to mark divisions in the text and sometimes as a guide for the hand, were also made by the same means. The sign ⟨ is used for purposes of division between words, to indicate an omission, and to divide a column into two parts, and, perhaps, to mark the punctuation (see KK. 9, 9272, 7118, etc.); the division stroke | is also sometimes employed in a similar manner. In many tablets every tenth line of the text is marked on the margin by the sign ⟨, which means "ten"; the last line of the text when not a tenth line was, of course, indicated by its proper number. In certain cases the marginal numbers do not mark the number of lines, but the number of sentences, e.g., KK. 2263, 3846, 4086, and 4623.

Corrections in the texts are marked by ⟨⟨, or some other sign, and erasures were sometimes made either with the thumb or with the blunt end of the stilus; see KK. 693, 2790, 9542, and 9572. Certain texts are accompanied by geometrical figures, and glosses are of frequent occurrence throughout the tablets. An examination of the tablets proves that in many cases tablets which relate to the same subject have been written in the same style of writing. As we are not entitled to assume that a particular class of writing was designed for a particular subject, it seems that tablets so written are either the work of one scribe or of those who imitated his handwriting. In some instances therefore the authorship of a letter or other document may be identified by the handwriting as well as by the colour, texture, shape, and form. In letters, moreover, the rank and condition of the writer, when addressing the king, is made plain by the opening words of address.

In many tablets, in addition to the colophon, there appears at the end the inscription:—"Land (?) of Ashur-bâni-pal, king of multitudes, king of Assyria" (see K. 24). This it would seem was added after the document was baked for some reason not known by us. It is interesting to note that in two instances cuneiform characters painted in red have been added to the tablets (see p. 1999). Among unusual varieties of writing may be mentioned one which resembles that found in the second column of the trilingual inscriptions of the Akhaemenian kings (see p. 2196, s.v.

"Susian inscriptions"). On certain tablets forms of writing other than cuneiform are found, viz., a series of contracts with texts or dockets in "Phœnician" (see p. 2151); a clay fragment with the prenomen of Sabaco, king of Egypt about B.C. 700 (81–2–4, 352); and seven clay fragments inscribed in unknown alphabetic characters (see p. 1961).

In the exceedingly full Subject Headings which will be found in the general Index, the principal subjects dealt with or referred to in the tablets of the Kouyunjik Collection have been indicated, but for the convenience of the reader the following brief description of their purport may be useful.

The historical literature of Assyria may be divided into two classes, namely (1) official authentic annals which were drawn up under the personal supervision of the high officials of the king; and (2) historical compositions which do not always refer to the kings of Assyria. Among the former class must be mentioned the inscriptions, principally on prismoids and cylinders, etc., which describe the building operations and wars of Sargon II, Sennacherib, Esarhaddon, and Ashur-bâni-pal; and among the latter class episodes in ancient wars and in the lives of kings are treated. Generally speaking, an annalistic inscription consists of three parts:—(1) a prayer to the gods, followed by a list of the king's names, titles, and attributes; (2) a description of his wars, acts, deeds, amusements, and building operations; and (3) a short prayer, beseeching the gods to preserve his family, monuments, and records, and to curse all those who attempt to destroy them. The last section is usually followed by two lines containing the date when the document was written. Among historical inscriptions of the second class may be mentioned as of special interest those which refer to the renovation of an inscription of the Moon-god (K. 2564); the temple of the god Nusku in the city of Ḫarran (K. 2803); works dedicated to Ashur by Sennacherib (K. 5413 a); the image of the goddess Ištar of Susa (K. 7673); the images of Ashur and the gods brought to the coast of the "Upper Sea" in the reign of Sennacherib (K. 1356); a vision concerning the image of the goddess Nanâ in Elam (K. 2638), etc. It is interesting to note that the Assyrian scribes sometimes copied verbatim ancient texts, e.g., KK. 11596 and 10888; and here may be noted certain historical inscriptions in the Sumero-Akkadian language, to which have been added interlinear translations and explanatory notes in Assyrian, e.g., K. 2657, Sm. 2034, and K. 9901. As a part of the group of historical inscriptions must be mentioned here the so-called "epigraphs," that is to say, the short inscriptions which were drafted on small clay tablets to serve as copies for sculptors and others to inscribe upon a bas-relief, or a statue, or a chariot, etc. (See s.v. "Epigraphs," pp. 1974, 2010.) The subjects to which they refer are of various kinds, cf. KK. 3096, 6806, 7862, 8664, etc. As of special interest may be noted K. 4453, which contains the draft, afterwards cut in stone on the Assyrian bas-relief No. 90, in the British Museum; see also Sm. 1350, and p. 2010.

Intimately connected with the historical inscriptions are the letters, despatches, and reports which were written either by the king himself or by his officers, who thus supplied the king with information concerning the events which were taking place in the countries under their rule. A number of the documents of this class are addressed to the king's mother, son, and daughter, and to various high state officials; they often relate to military or other public affairs. Of special interest are the letters which report a conquest of Egypt (K. 2701), the entrance of the king of Elam into the city of Bîtbunakki (K. 7299), the revolt of the Elamite king Tammaritu (80–7–19, 16), the decoration of the king's throne (K. 4792), the building of a porch supported on columns (K. 11666), the making of an embankment along a river or canal (K. 4719), eclipses of the sun and moon (D.T. 98), days which were propitious for the performance of certain religious ceremonies (82–5–22, 98), the celebration of the new year (K. 1554), a dream sent by Bel (K. 4785), the transport of horses (K. 12045), armour and articles of clothing (K. 11468), colossi (Sm. 1031), the calling in of a physician to prescribe for a lady of the royal household (82–5–22, 174), a disease of the king in his ears (K. 8509), the discussion of the omens derived from the appearance of certain birds in a man's house (82–5–22, 169), the delivery of certain ships (K. 8411), a sale of slaves (K. 8671), the receipt of a letter from a royal astrologer, who suggests that he should be rewarded for having recovered the gold tablet which had been carried off by a mason from the temple of Ashur (K. 69), the king's death and the regulations for mourning to be observed (81-2-4, 65), etc. Letters and despatches addressed to the king are usually introduced with the words "To the king, my lord (or "To the king, our lord") thy servant, or thy servants"—here follows the name of the writer of the letter; letters from the king begin "Word of the king to"—here follows the name of the addressee. Older forms of introduction are—"To . . . speaketh thus . . .", and "Message of . . . to . . ." (KK. 1159, 1245, 4787, 83–1–18, 263). Addresses to the king are regularly introduced by the words—"Thy servant . . . to the majesty (?) of the king, my lord"; for specimens of proclamations see KK. 84 and 4447. Letters as well as historical inscriptions are sometimes dated; the former are dated by the name of the eponym of the year, and the latter either in the same way or by the regnal year of the king.

With the historical inscriptions may perhaps be grouped two classes of tablets, inscribed with oracles and with prayers to the Sun-god. In the former we have certain words addressed to the king, purporting to come from a god or goddess and intended to encourage the king to persevere in a certain course of action, e.g., "I will break the bows of Elam, but I will strengthen thy bow; I will make mighty thy weapons against all thine enemies," and again, "I stir up thy heart to the destruction of thine enemies by my mighty weapons (?)" (K. 2647). In the latter, which are prefaced by prayers to the Sun-god, a number of historical events which took place during the reigns of Esarhaddon and Ashur-bâni-pal are reported at considerable length. Occasionally forecasts are added to the texts.

A small but interesting class of tablets in the Kouyunjik Collection are the so-called "contracts," which are of the greatest importance as affording an insight into the methods of sale and barter in use among the Assyrians in the seventh century before Christ. They refer to the sale of slaves, both male and female, of houses, of lands and estates, agricultural produce and animals, and frequently have reference to agreements, dowries, payments of interest on money, etc. Such documents bear upon them seal-impressions made either by an ordinary stamping seal, or by a cylinder-seal rolled over a part of the tablet. They sometimes bear the impressions of finger-nails, specifically referred to as "nail-marks." That such marks were considered to be as binding as seal-impressions is evident from the tablet Rm. 2, 19, and other tablets, where it is said that the contracting parties "have pressed their nails (upon the clay) in place of seals" (see p. 1637, note †; p. 1881, note *; and p. 1884, note *). Certain tablets bearing royal seal-impressions seem to show that the same royal device was in use among the Assyrian kings for some hundreds of years (see p. 80, note *, and p. 2184).

Chronography and chronology among the Assyrians are well represented by a number of tablets, among which may be specially mentioned:—(1) A chronicle of the early Babylonian kings (K. 8532); (2) a classified agreement on certain points of dispute between the Babylonian and Assyrian governments referring to events which took place from about B.C. 1600 to B.C. 800, commonly called the "Synchronous History"; and (3) the Assyrian Eponym Canon, the true meaning of which was discovered by the late Sir Henry Rawlinson. This most valuable document contains a list of the officials whose names were attached to their several years of office in Nineveh, together with their titles and notices of the principal events which took place during their rule. In it is mentioned a solar eclipse which, according to calculations, must have taken place on June 15, B.C. 763. With this record as a standpoint, and with the statements made in the Canon of Claudius Ptolemy for reference, it has been found possible to date with exactness the events which took place from about B.C. 900 to B.C. 640.

A study of the present Catalogue will show that by far the larger mass of the tablets and fragments of the Kouyunjik Collection treat of astrology, and of the subjects of medicine and religion which were closely connected with it; indeed, there seems to have been scarcely any event in the life of a man, however trivial, which was not provided for by this pseudo-science.

First and foremost under the heading of astrology must be mentioned the "omen-tablets," which may contain forecasts, either for a limited or for an unlimited period. Among these texts are some which illustrate the transition of omens into astrological forecasts, and it is certain that these two classes of astrological texts influenced each other. An examination of omen texts shows that the Assyrians grouped them into series, and of these some of the names have come down to us. In the general Index the reader will find carefully grouped into classes lists of the omens of the Kouyunjik Collection, but we may note here a few which are of special interest. The Assyrians derived their omens from :—

(1) The appearance and actions of animals, i.e., horses, asses, lions, foxes, oxen, dogs, hyenas (?) calves, sheep, pigs, etc. (see KK. 10390, 10586, 13195, 6398, 9031, 10759, 236, 8063, 12169, 8013, 3886, 12634, SSm. 67, 919, RRm. 2, 304, RRm. 83, 155, etc.).

(2) From the movements and actions of birds, i.e., owls, eagles and swallows (see KK. 10660, 4021, 6765, Sm. 1244).

(3) From the appearance and motions of snakes, scorpions, moths, locusts, fish, etc. (see KK. 13892, 743, 11668, 6071, 3974, 11746, 3726, 74, 8350, 12507, 6912, etc.).

(4) From human and animal births, the births of monstrosities and of malformed children and animals (see KK. 3966, 8274, 3985, 11298, 12001, 9194, 9222, 11626, 11889, 11063, 6816, 2313, 4005, 3970, 8296, 12865, 7036, 10675, 9166, 8336, SSm. 1743, 1906, etc.).

(5) From the state and condition of cities and their streets, fields, lands, marshes, rivers, etc., and from the events which take place in them. At least one hundred and six tablets of this class seem to belong to a large series which the Assyrians call ÎNUMA ALU

INA MILÎ IŠAKAN, i.e., "When a city is set upon a hill (?)" (see p. 2140).

(6) From incidents that may happen to a sick man. At least nineteen tablets of this series have been identified; the series was called by the Assyrians ÎNUMA ANA BÎT MARṢI, i.e., "When to the house of a sick man." This series was subdivided into two parts: the first, which contained at least nine tablets, ÎNUMA MARṢU, i.e., "When a sick man"; and the second part, which contained at least five tablets, was called ÎNUMA ÛMA MAḪRÂ, "When on the first day" (see p. 2140). The following opening words of each of the nine tablets of the series ÎNUMA MARṢU prove that omens were derived from various parts of a man's body:—

Tablet 1 ["When a sick man."]
Tablet 2 "When the forehead."
Tablet 3 "When a sick man's right eye."
Tablet 4 ["When a sick man's left eye."]
Tablet 5 "When a sick man's tongue."
Tablet 6 "When a sick man's right ear."
Tablet 7 ["When a sick man's left ear."]
Tablet 8 "When a sick man's neck."
Tablet 9 "When a sick man's extended right hand."

(7) From the state and condition of the mouth, nose, lips, eyes, hair, feet, hands, heart, blood, etc., of a sick man (see KK. 6682, 11340, 3961, 13959, 3957, 8140, 6280, 3860, 6287, 11144, 6214, 4020, 3826, 11939, 12275, RRm. 248, SSm. 1419, 1636, 1210, 1983).

(8) From dreams in which the sleeper imagines that he is performing usual or unusual acts or that he sees demons and the dead living again (see KK. 10456, 4570, 6611, 6663, 9919, 8693, 2582, 8339, 6768, 3698, 6419, 11997, etc.). A "dream within a dream" seems to be mentioned on KK. 4103 and 11041.

(9) From the various actions or events which may take place in the life of the king, or a nobleman, or a private individual (see KK. 3880, 12495, 106, 3820, 6759, 8268, 9537, 12677, Sm. 1453, D.T. 284; and p. 2144).

(10) From the form of a shadow of a man, from the flickerings of a light or flame, from the appearance of fire or smoke, and from the condition of corn (KK. 3679, 10423, 12550; and see p. 2143).

The events predicted by the omen-tablets refer chiefly to the increase of cattle, etc., and to evils such as sickness, death, pestilence and famine, inundations, drought, etc., which may fall upon the king and his people and country (see pp. 2140—2149).

Akin to the "omen-tablets" are those which are inscribed with "astrological forecasts," and are grouped in a similar manner to the omens. Of these, two great series are known. The first series, which is said to date from the time of Sargon I, about B.C. 3800, contains at least sixty-six tablets; its title was ÎNUMA KAKKAB BÎL, i.e., "When the star of Bêl." The second, which is closely allied to the first, bore the name of ÎNUMA SIN INA TAMARTIŠU, i.e., "When the Moon in her appearance" (see p. 2017). These forecasts were predicted from eclipses of the sun and moon, from the positions of the heavenly bodies at the time, and from the circumstances which attended them; the positions of the planets and other stars in the heavens at various periods were also used as bases for forecasts. In connection with astrological forecasts the existence of texts inscribed upon astrolabes must be noted, and it is also to be observed that some stars seem to have been mentioned in forecasts according to their connection with the gods Anu, Bêl and Ea (see pp. 2016—2030). Other forecasts were based upon observations of meteors, shooting stars, and the shape, form, colour, and movements of clouds, and thunder and lightning (see p. 2022). As belonging to the series of astrological forecasts, must here be mentioned a number of groups of texts to which are sometimes added certain geometrical figures or devices, the exact signification of the contents of which is at present unknown (see within, pp. 2011, 2012, 2031). Other groups of allied texts are commonly known as "astrological reports," which are chiefly addressed to the king. Their contents refer to eclipses of the sun and moon, to stars or groups of stars, or signs of the Zodiac, clouds, rain, storms, etc. At times the report is wholly astrological, but at others partly astrological and partly astronomical (see pp. 2171—2174). As a purely astronomical text, may be mentioned K. 9794, which seems to refer to the periodical revolution of a planet, and to state the distances of certain stars from certain points in the heavens.

The Assyrian seems to have believed that the various diseases of body, mind, and soul were caused by astral influences, and, with a view of healing the sufferer, the physicians made use of plants and herbs, of portions of the bodies of animals, and of stones, which were supposed to be efficacious in removing malign celestial influences. Such means were, however, of minor importance, for the physician, who was also usually a priest, relied chiefly upon the efficacy of the prayers and incantations which he recited while administering the medicine (see pp. 1997–1999, 2051 ff., 2095). Texts of this class were divided into groups, and eleven series have already been identified (see within, under "Incantations," pp. 2051–2061). The diseases mentioned in these texts appear to be those common to all countries the soil of which has been formed by alluvial deposits, and the remedies prescribed for them include a number which were believed to be effectual in neutralizing the effects of poison, snake-bites, scorpion-stings, etc. (see KK. 2542, 8449, 13463, 7845, Sm. 1357, Rm. 98, Rm. 2, 149, etc.) Certain texts were used as amulets, which were suspended over the head of a bed (see K. 3628); and others were directed against ghosts, an "evil foot" at the door, evil dreams, etc. (see KK. 11677, 10333, 8171, 8583, SSm. 543, 1069, etc.).

Two principal series of incantations, called MAḲLU and ŠURPU respectively, have been identified. The Maḳlu series contains exorcisms of witches and their companions, and was intended to drive away evil dreams, sickness, etc. (see p. 2056). The Šurpu series contains incantations against sin, disease, and calamity of every kind. The incantations of the Maḳlu series were accompanied by directions for the performance of ceremonies wherein the sinner, having made figures of the powers of darkness who had caused his calamity, in clay, or bitumen, or honey and flour, or bronze, or wood, burnt them in the fire while he recited prayers to the gods of fire and light.

The disease or calamity or effect of his sin was supposed to disappear when the figure had been consumed (see p. 2056). For the series of incantations against the "Seven Demons" and other similar works, see also p. 2056; and for texts relating to magical ceremonies, see pp. 1998 and 2157.

In the Assyrian religious literature prayers hold a most prominent position; some are written in Assyrian and some in the Sumerian language, with interlinear Assyrian translations and explanatory glosses by the scribe. For the seven series of prayers which have up to the present been identified, see p. 2152. Assyrian prayers were addressed either to a god or to a group of gods, e.g., to Ištar, or to Ištar, Sin and Tašmîtu; to Šamaš, or to Anu, Bau, Nusku, Šamaš and Sin; and one prayer addressed to the mythical hero Gilgamiš is known (Sm. 1371). For a classified list of prayers, see pp. 2152–2154. Assyrian hymns were grouped into series, for the classified list of which see pp. 2043, 2044. Sometimes they are written wholly in Sumerian, and sometimes they were accompanied by interlinear Assyrian translations and glosses by the scribe. The gods to which they are chiefly addressed are enumerated in the Index (see p. 2044). A number of the hymns are broken up into paragraphs of two or three lines, and certain others, which seem to have been written in rhythm, are alliterative. An acrostic, in which the first and last syllable of each line read downwards form a connected sentence, is inscribed on tablet K. 8204. Finally, among religious texts may be mentioned those which refer to the rites and ceremonies connected with the worship of the gods, those which give instructions for the celebration of the festival days of the gods and the Feast of the New Year, and those which contain minute directions concerning the sacrificial offerings and sacred libations and unguents and vessels and vestments of the priests (see p. 1998, and 2162 ff.). For lists of the sacred days, see "Hemerologies," p. 2039.

In the Kouyunjik Collection mythology and legendary lore are represented by:—

(1) A series of twelve tablets entitled ŠA NAḲBI IMURU, i.e., "He who hath seen the spring (?)," which record the adventures of Gilgamiš, an ancient king, and hero of the city of Erech; and the eleventh section of the series contains the Babylonian account of the Deluge, of which we have four mutilated copies (see p. 2078).

(2) A series of five tablets entitled ÎNUMA ILIŠ, i.e., "When above," which contain the Babylonian account of the Creation.

(3) The legend of the descent of the goddess Ištar into Hades, the legends concerning the gods Zû, Girra or Urra, LUGAGIRRA, Etana, Atarpimi (?), and Adapa.

(4) Legends concerning the early kings Sargon I, Dungi, Ḫammurabi, and Nebuchadnezzar I (see p. 2079).

(5) A small group of tablets (see p. 2116) inscribed with texts which were probably written with a view of assisting the sculptor in making models of mythological beings and creatures in stone and other materials.

(6) A group of texts dealing with groups of two or more deities (see KK. 3282, 3933, 7145, 7206, 9417, and 9875).

The general interest, however, in the classes of tablets described above, must always be less than that taken in the very large number of tablets which were drawn up with the view of teaching Assyrian scribes and others the complex system of writing and the grammar of the Assyrian language. It seems that when Ashur-bâni-pal caused copies of ancient works composed in the Sumerian tongue to be made for the Royal Library at Nineveh, he found it necessary to add to such copies interlinear translations in Assyrian. He likewise ordered the compilation of lists of the cuneiform characters, in which their uses and values in the various branches of Assyrian literature were illustrated; lists of words or vocabularies; and "explanatory lists," that is to say, lists of ideograms, used both in the Sumerian and the Assyrian languages, accompanied by their equivalents in Assyrian. Of "explanatory lists" the following varieties are known:—(1) Those which contain the ideographs, the

Assyrian translations, and synonyms in three columns respectively; (2) Those in which the ideographs and their translations (sometimes accompanied by glosses) are given in parallel columns; (3) Those containing ideographs of names of deities with explanations, in parallel columns; (4) Sumerian ideographs arranged in groups according to the forms of the cuneiform signs, in parallel columns; (5) Sumerian ideographs with explanations arranged in groups according to the roots of the Assyrian words; (6) Assyrian words with synonyms arranged in parallel columns, etc. (See p. 2093 ff.)

Assyrian "syllabaries," or "sign-lists," are of at least four classes:—(1) Lists of signs with their Sumerian values and their Assyrian names; (2) lists of signs with their Sumerian values and their Assyrian translations; and (3) lists of signs with their Sumerian values, their Assyrian names, and their Assyrian translations; (4) lists of Sumerian and Akkadian words with their Assyrian equivalents (see p. 596, note §). These classes, with the exception of those in section (3), are written in three columns. Two examples also of "syllabaries" in five columns are known (KK. 4225, 4808).

"Explanatory lists" deal with almost every variety of object in the natural and the spiritual worlds; for a classified list of them, see pp. 2100—2103; a certain small class, however, were drawn up for the purpose of explaining special literary works (see p. 2099), i.e., "omens," "astrological texts," and texts containing "forecasts." Akin to these lists are the so-called "grammatical paradigms," wherein groups of words and short sentences relating to various subjects and written in Sumerian are explained in Assyrian (see pp. 2032 f.). An interesting class of documents is formed by a number of tablets inscribed with lists of persons, descriptions of their dwellings, trades, professions, etc., and with lists of officials (see KK. 10119, 8108, 13086); worthy of special notice is K. 8103, which gives a list of all the persons constituting a regiment or military company.

A careful examination of the tablets of the Kouyunjik Collection shows that a great many of them were copied from originals preserved in the ancient cities of Akkad, Ashur, Babylon, Cuthah, and Nippur; we learn this fact from the colophons, which also give the number of the series to which the tablets belong, and sometimes the initial words of the next tablet of the series. It is clear, too, that the greatest care was employed in making these copies, for the colophons state that the works have not only been "copied," but also "revised" (šaṭir-ma bâri), and the material of the tablets and their shape and form, as well as the uniformity of the writing upon them, prove that the work of supplying the Royal Library with copies of old tablets preserved outside Assyria was conducted in a systematic manner. The colophon frequently contained the name of the king for whom the tablet was written, and sometimes that of the scribe or owner, as well as his titles and genealogy; rarely a date or "double date" is added.

The Assyrian called the original clay tablet which he copied nišḫu or nišḫi, plur. nišḫîti, or nârû, or nibzi (or nipzi), (see KK. 1288, 2939, 3040, 3979, 12279); sometimes he employed the word duppâni, which seems to mean "clay tablets." In one instance, an original document is mentioned as having been written upon cyprus-wood (see K. 3163, and compare p. 495, note †, KK. 8173, 9872, Sm. 1239, and 80–7–19, 144). Two or more copies were sometimes made from one and the same original (see K. 196); two originals are mentioned on K. 9487; and sometimes a Babylonian copy was made from an original Assyrian text (Bu. 91–5–9, 132). The completeness or incompleteness of a copy is frequently mentioned by the scribe (see p. 474, note *); and when the copy is only an extract the fact is duly mentioned (see pp. 2010, 2011).

We have no knowledge as to the way in which the tablets were arranged in Ashur-bâni-pal's Library, but it is quite certain that the scribes drew up catalogues of certain sections of the library and wrote labels for important works; thus K. 1352 is a catalogue containing a list of two series of forecasts which consisted of fourteen and seventeen tablets respectively, the number of lines on each tablet being also stated. K. 2832 gives a list of the opening lines of incantation texts; Rm. 150 supplies a list of certain series of works; and K. 9717 contains a list of a number of mythological legends and fables (compare also KK. 12722 and 13818). Of labels for tablets KK. 1400 and 1539 are excellent specimens.

GENERAL INDEX.

GENERAL INDEX.

In the transliterations of proper names given in this Index it must be noted that:—𒀀𒁀𒄀 = 'a, 'i and 'u, 𒀀𒁀𒄀𒄀𒄀 = aḫ, iḫ and uḫ, 𒄀𒄀𒄀𒄀 = ai and aya, 𒄀𒄀𒄀 = ḫa, 𒁀𒄀𒄀 = i, 𒅀𒄀 = ḳa, 𒊓𒄀𒄀𒄀 = sa, 𒄀𒄀 = ša, 𒁀𒁀𒄀𒄀 = ṣi, 𒄀𒄀𒄀𒄀𒄀 = ṭu, 𒁀𒁀𒄀𒄀 = ya, 𒁀𒄀𒄀𒄀 = zi. As the Assyrian scribes did not distinguish between the syllables bu and pu, da and ṭa, za and ṣa, etc., ab and ap, etc., ag, ak and aḳ, etc., gar, kar and ḳar, etc., mud, muṭ and mut, etc., ḫar, ḫir and ḫur, etc., names containing such syllables must be looked for under each letter.—The component parts of names have only been separated by hyphens where determinatives like 𒀀, and 𒀀𒀀𒀀 occur within the name, e.g., Bît-Ammâna; to this rule the determinative 𒁀𒄀𒄀 has been made an exception.—To the quotations from tablets in the Kouyunjik Collections references to the pages of the Catalogue have been added. Recent "joins" of fragments of tablets have been indicated by " + ".—References to the five volumes of the late Sir Henry C. Rawlinson's The Cuneiform Inscriptions of Western Asia have, in this Index, been indicated by I R, II R, III R, IV R and V R respectively.
